WILKINS MADE FLIGHT ACROSS POLAR REGION

Radio Announces Arrival Safely at Spitzbergen

London, April 21.—(AP)—After a silence of many days, word was received in London this afternoon that Captain George H. Wilkins, Arctic flier and explorer, landed near the Svalbard (Spitzbergen) radio station at 11 o'clock this morning, completing a flight across the polar regions from Point Barrow, Alaska.

The news was contained in an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Copenhagen stating that the newspaper Politiken had received the message from Svalbard. A previous dispatch to this newspaper also from the Svalbard radio station, said that Captain Wilkins flew from Point Barrow and landed near Doedmansoer, an uninhabited island, where bad weather stopped him for five days. This island is about 25 miles from Svalbard.

Looked For "Blind Spot" Captain Wilkins was looking for this so-called "blind spot" but also planned to fly over the North Pole and a direct route from Point Barrow to Spitzbergen would carry him over the pole.

Captain Wilkins was accompanied by Carl B. Eielson, an Alaskan pilot.

The arrival of Captain Wilkins near Svalbard, from Point Barrow, Alaska, represents the successful completion of Captain Wilkins' plan to fly across the polar regions and presumably across the North Pole itself.

The Wilkins plane carried a radio, but despite a constant watch by radio stations, complete silence enveloped the activities of the expedition even from the time that the aviator was expected to take off from Point Barrow.

Captain Wilkins, a noted Australian explorer, was accompanied by Carl B. Eielson, an Alaskan pilot.

Svalbard is the name applied to the entire Archipelago of Spitzbergen, Bear Island and the adjacent islands in the Greenland Sea. The distance from Norway to Bear Island is 250 miles north and to Spitzbergen 375 miles. Spitzbergen was the point for which Captain Wilkins set out from Point Barrow in a direct line across the North Pole.

RADIO TO DETROIT

Detroit, April 21.—(AP)—Captain George H. Wilkins announced his arrival at Spitzbergen from Point Barrow, Alaska, in a radio message today to the Detroit News.

Reached Spitzbergen after twenty and one-half hours flying, one stop, five days account bad weather. Greetings to Aviation Society and Flying Club, the message received this forenoon said.

It was dated Svalbard 12:31 P. M. April 21 and was signed "Wilkins-Eielson."

Eielson is the Alaskan flyer who has accompanied Wilkins on his previous Arctic expeditions and went with him to Point Barrow, Alaska, early this year on his latest effort to find a lost continent and attempt a flight across the "top of the world" to Spitzbergen.

Seven Members Kas. Family Die in Fire

Eldorado, Kas., April 21.—(AP)—Seven members of the William F. Overst family were burned to death at their farm home 20 miles north-west of Eldorado last night.

The blaze, of unknown origin, occurred about 8 o'clock but the bodies were not discovered until midnight by neighbors who at first believed the family was away from home.

Owen Overst, 17, was the only member of the family who escaped. He was visiting in a nearby town.

The dead: William F. Overst, 45; Elsie Overst, 41, his wife; Five of their children: Dorothy, 15; Ralph, 14; Hugh, 10; Edith, 8; and Herbert, 6.

Boy Died at Dixon Colony Yesterday

Mathew Krawczyk, aged 13, a member of a party of epileptic and feeble minded patients who were transferred from the Lincoln state colony to the Dixon state hospital, died in the hospital ward at the local infirmary yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. The young man suffered an epileptic seizure about the time that he was to be removed from one of the big buses which brought 50 patients to Dixon, and was rushed to the hospital where he died about a half hour later. The body was removed to the Jones funeral home where Coroner Frank M. Barker will conduct an inquest this afternoon.

EXCELLENT SHOW GIVEN AT CIRCUS BY Y. M. C. A. BOYS

Fine Performance to be Repeated at Gym This Eve

The annual Y. M. C. A. Circus, featuring the work done by the Physical Department, played to a full house last evening, and it is expected that even a larger crowd will greet the boys this evening when the performance is to be repeated. The entire program proved to be of a high order, every number being done with credit.

A preliminary concert was given by the Y. M. C. A. Boys' Band after which the big show opened with a parade by the entire company. This was followed by games played by the Midgets, a wand drill by the Juniors, apparatus work by the Intermediates, as well as apparatus work by the Seniors. Clowns enlivened the program throughout the evening, with a series of stunts and antics.

An acrobatic dance of a high order was given by Miss Elsie Neff, and Albert Spindlen and son thrilled the audience with acrobatic work of a very high order. For years Mr. Spindlen played with the Ringling Brothers Circus and his work bears the stamp of the seasoned acrobat. The aerial stunts were a new feature this year and made a decided hit. This work consisted in work on a revolving ladder, flying rings, as well as balancing trapeze act by Wayne Yohn. The last number of the evening's program was a series of pyramids, beautifully executed by the intermediates and seniors.

To one who has followed the work of the Physical Department for a number of years the outstanding feature was the work of the Seniors. Young men in their late teens and early twenties are not often found in great numbers in the gymnasium classes, featuring gymnastics and acrobatics, and the Dixon Association is to be congratulated on the splendid interest being taken by a large group of young men. The entire evening's performance reflects credit upon the work of C. M. Yohn, Physical Director, who has worked faithfully all through the winter and spring in preparation for this most meritorious performance.

Friends who failed to see the show last night are urged to be in attendance at this evening's performance at 8 o'clock.

Mitchell Buys Shop

James R. Bales, who for the past fifteen years has conducted a barber shop in the basement of the Dixon Trust & Savings Bank building, has disposed of his interests to Thomas Mitchell, owner of the Crystal barber shops in Dixon and Sterling. The new owner takes possession Monday morning and Frank Wagner, formerly of Sterling, who recently returned from California, will be in charge.

Mr. Bales, in announcing the sale of his shop today, was undecided as to his plans for the immediate future. He expressed his appreciation to his many patrons during the several years he has been in business in the one location. He will take a well deserved rest and vacation. Mr. Mitchell has been very successful in his chosen profession and his host of friends wish him every success in his new venture.

Sentence Affirmed

Springfield, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today affirmed judgment of the Madison county court in the sentencing of Earl Green to the penitentiary for the murder of Otto Roller. His appeal was based on a technicality in that the preamble to the indictment specified that "a grand jury met in Alton" when it should have met in Madison county.

Steward Trial Soon

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—Robert W. Stewart, Chairman of the Board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, will be placed on trial in the District of Columbia supreme court on May 21 on charges of refusing to answer questions of the Senate oil committee.

HARSH WORDS COMMENCE TO FLY IN GUBERNATORIAL CAMPAIGN AS EMMERSON REPLIES TO THOMPSON

Springfield, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—Illinois state politics were sprung wide open today, with indications that the coming campaign for Governor would be one of extremely harsh words, when Louis L. Emmerson, Republican candidate for governor, in a belated statement, charged his Democratic candidate, Justice Floyd E. Thompson, with "cheap ward politics" for his speech against the G. O. P. in yesterday's state Democratic convention.

"I should think Justice Thompson's party would be disappointed at the character of the campaign he evidently intends to make," Mr. Emmerson said. "They had a right to expect from a sitting Justice of the Supreme Court, a dignified and sensible discussion of the issues involved in the campaign. Instead, they get a flood of billingsgate, delivered with the irresponsible abandon of a cheap ward politician."

PILOTS' SICKNESS DELAYS JOURNEY OF RELIEF PLANE

Bennett and Balchen, Aviators, are Both Sick in Quebec

Lake Ste Agnes, Que., April 21.—(By the Canadian Press.)—Illness of Floyd Bennett, who is confined to his bed, has caused indefinite postponement of the flight of the Ford plane to the relief of the Bremen, which had been scheduled for today.

Bennett, who was co-pilot with Bert Balchen on the flight here from Detroit yesterday, developed a high fever during the night and was unable to leave his bed this morning. Both Bennett and Balchen, who have recently undergone extremes of temperatures, have suffered from heavy colds.

May Take Scheller. Should it appear likely that Bennett will be unable to fly for some time, the substitution of C. A. "Duke" Scheller was being considered. Scheller has already made one round trip by air to Greenly Island and brought out Major James Fitzmaurice of the Bremen crew.

The Ford plane was to have taken parts to replace those broken in the landing of the Bremen and a supply of special fuel to enable in the trans-Atlantic plane to proceed here, en route for New York.

HOPE TO HOP SUNDAY

Murray Bay, Quebec, April 21.—(AP)—The monoplane Bremen and her ocean-hurdling crew will be here tomorrow, if nothing interferes with their schedule.

This village will be host to the fliers only for the time it takes them to refuel their ship for the thousand mile flight to New York, which it is expected will be started Monday.

The plans were made by Major James Fitzmaurice, co-pilot on the Bremen's trans-Atlantic flight; Fraulien Herta Junkers, daughter of the Bremen's builder, and Bert Balchen and Floyd Bennett.

The relief ship was brought across the border because no other plane available was believed big enough to be trusted with the parts needed to put the damaged Bremen into flying condition. It was arranged that the Ford plane also carry to the marooned ship 60 gallons of benzol.

List of Repairs. The repair parts destined for the Bremen included a propeller taken from the Bremen's sister ship to replace the one damaged in the landing on Greenly Island, and an undercarriage, needed because the Bremen smashed an axle.

There was also a set of landing skis for use if Captain Koehli does not feel that he can trust the Bremen on Greenly Island's ice with only the usual wheels of the land plane.

Only unfavorable weather would prevent an early start for Greenly Island today, the fliers said. Fitzmaurice was booked as a passenger for the flight, carrying clean clothing and cigarettes and cigars for Baron von Huenefeldt and Captain Koehli.

Fitzmaurice said he believed the Bremen could be patched together easily enough with the materials available. If she can take the air under her own power the same three men who brought her on the history-making flight from Dublin, will fly her on the last leg of the trip to New York.

But if melting ice at Greenly Island interferes with a takeoff, or if repairs prove not so easily made as is expected, then the German-Irish crew of the Bremen will come to Murray Bay in the Ford plane.

FACING DIFFICULTIES

New York, April 21.—(AP)—Difficulties confront the monoplane Bremen in take-off from Greenly Island. Conditions were described here by two photographers on their return from a visit to the stranded German fliers.

"There is almost a straight drop of 20 feet from the island to the river ice from where the takeoff must be made," said Ray Fernstrom, Paramount News-Associated Press cameraman.

GET-TOGETHER MEETING FOR MEMBERS OF DIXON CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NEXT THURSDAY

Senator Harold Kessinger of Aurora to be Main Speaker

The first big get-together meeting of the Dixon Chamber of Commerce since the recent successful membership drive, during which the roll was increased to over 350, will be held at the Brinton Memorial Masonic Temple next Thursday evening, and a big banquet—to which all members and their ladies will be invited—will precede the meeting at which the status and future of Dixon will be discussed by anyone who desires to make any comment.

The feature speaker of the evening will be State Senator Harold Kessinger of Aurora, editor of the Mid-West Review, and one of the most prominent men in the state. Senator Kessinger is noted for his broad outlook on life, his intense civic spirit and his sound conclusions, and there is no doubt his address will be an inspiration for great efforts on the part of Dixonites to boost for a GREATER DIXON.

The committee in charge of the banquet and meeting will start its work Monday.

Three Hurt in Bomb Blast in Newspaper

Seranton, Pa., April 21.—(AP)—Three persons were injured and about 30 persons narrowly escaped when a time charge of dynamite, believed by the police to have been planted in an attempt to wreck the "La Voce Italianina," an Italian newspaper, was set off near the press in a four story brick building in Center street. The building was badly damaged.

Mr. and Mrs. William Killian of Sterling were transacting business in Dixon yesterday.

WEATHER

WHEN MOM MAKES FROSTING, THE KIDS GET INTO A SCRAPE.

SATURDAY, APRIL 21, 1928

Chicago, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—For Chicago and vicinity—Showers probable tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature; fresh to strong northeast wind.

For Illinois—Showers probable tonight and Sunday; somewhat cooler in south portion tonight.

For Wisconsin—Mostly cloudy tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature.

For Iowa—Showers probable tonight and Sunday; not much change in temperature.

OUTLOOK FOR NEXT WEEK

For the Region of the Great Lakes—Occasional periods of precipitation; temperature somewhat below normal at beginning of week, rising Tuesday and Wednesday above normal, and probably falling somewhat by end of week.

For the Upper Mississippi and Lower Missouri Valleys and the Northern and Central Great Plains—Periods of precipitation, brief in northern portions but probably more protracted in southern portions; variable temperature, mostly above normal first part of week and near normal end of week.

Not only these two, but the "International Workers' Defense" and the "Workers' Party" group came in for attack in the board's edict.

"All four organizations are controlled by Communist influence and some, we believe, are financed by communist money and non-union coal operators' money."

"It is a well known fact," the statement went on, "that in non-union towns, closed to officers and members of the United Mine Workers, the emissaries of these dual organizations have free access in order that they might play their nefarious work. In fact, non-union operators see to it that their non-union employees are supplied with copies of various circulars and newspapers published by this aggregation."

Declaring the Senate coal investigating committee had developed that representatives of the dual organizations had called meetings of children in an effort to destroy their faith in God, the union officers said the "church and the labor unions are the American Bulwarks against Communism and they must be destroyed if the Soviet propaganda is not to be successful."

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

TWO PAID FINES

G. W. McClintock and Charles Gerrow paid fines of $3 and costs before Justice J. O. Shaulls in police court last evening on charges of violation of the city traffic ordinances.

SERIOUS OPERATION

Roy Rosene of Tampico, who has been a patient in the hospital for several days, was operated on Monday, the operation being of a serious nature. Mr. Rosene seems to be improving nicely.

LICENSED TO WED

The following marriage licenses have been issued by County Clerk Fred G. Dimick: B. Frank McDaniel of Dixon and Miss Alta Mae Wilkey of Amboy; Frank M. Smith of Dixon and Miss Blanche B. Knickely of Franklin Grove.

BOARD MEETS MONDAY

The board of supervisors will meet Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock for the purpose of organization, electing a chairman for the ensuing year and the appointment of the various committees. Supervisor Carl C. Straw appears to be the unopposed candidate for the chairmanship of the board for the coming year, he having been the selection of the majority of the board members. Other members of the board, who from a seniority standpoint, are entitled to seek the honor, have declined to be candidates.

HENRY REMMERS DEAD

Mrs. George Beal and Mrs. R. A. Roedel of this city today received word of the sudden death of their nephew, Henry W. Remmers, a former Dixon man, who passed away suddenly in British Columbia. The word received by the Dixon relatives gave no particulars concerning his death beyond the announcement that burial would take place in Kenosha, Wis., the time being undetermined. The deceased was a son of George W. Remmers, a former Dixonite, and he had many friends here who will mourn his passing.

SPECIALIST CALLED

Dr. Hall, Chicago specialist was called in consultation at the Dixon public hospital last evening to conduct an examination of J. Thomas Richards, who has been in a critical condition for the past week. Word from the bedside today indicated that there was no change in his condition.

MINERS' UNIONS STARTING DRIVE TO OUST SOVIETS

Members of "Save the Union Committee" to be "Fired"

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—The international executive board of the United Mine Workers today announced the "Save the Union Committee" and the "Pennsylvania-Ohio Relief Committee" as "Communist organizations" and ordered all of their members expelled from the mine organization.

The two bodies were described as "dual organizations to the United Mine Workers of America" and as the unions' laws prohibits a member from affiliating with such a group, all local unions were instructed by the executive board to close the doors on those constituting the two organizations.

Not only these two, but the "International Workers' Defense" and the "Workers' Party" group came in for attack in the board's edict.

"All four organizations are controlled by Communist influence and some, we believe, are financed by communist money and non-union coal operators' money."

LOWDEN AND SMITH ASSURED SUPPORT STATE DELEGATES

Ill. State Conventions at Springfield Endorsed Candidacies

Springfield, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—The Republican state convention yesterday, deteriorated into an ordinary family dinner, garnished with grumbles, hisses and jeers.

State Democrats had harmony as a keynote to which they clung with a perfect sense of pitch. Despite the Republican grumbling, inspired by a faction of the Cook County delegation, there was no slip in the state as prepared by leaders of the Deneen-Emmerson-Glenn group. Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden was pledged the state's 61 delegates to the national convention, and U. S. Senator Deneen was named to head the delegation.

Neither convention had much to say in its platform about prohibition, although Anton J. Cermak Democratic candidate for U. S. Senator, delivered a "dripping wet" address.

His party platform declared in favor of state's rights in the matter. The Republicans had no prohibition plank the nearest to it being a paragraph stating that it stands "squarely for law enforcement."

For Law Enforcement

This plank was understood to have been a compromise reached and lead to a chairman for the ensuing year and the appointment of the various committees. Supervisor Carl C. Straw appears to be the unopposed candidate for the chairmanship of the board for the coming year, he having been the selection of the majority of the board members. Other members of the board, who from a seniority standpoint, are entitled to seek the honor, have declined to be candidates.

Neither Democrats nor Republicans bound their delegations to the national conventions to the unit rule. George Brennan, who will lead the Democrats to Houston, is a vigorous Smith supporter, and the Illinois delegation is expected to remain in the New York Governor's column as long as there is a chance of his nomination.

The Republican delegation was instructed to do all in its power to win the Presidential nomination for Lowden.

France Makes Public Her Treaty Desires

Paris, April 21.—(AP)—France in her draft of a treaty for the renunciation of war reserves the right to wage war for defense and in fulfillment of obligations under the League of Nations covenant.

The French draft of a multilateral pact was presented to five powers, the United States, Great Britain, Germany, Italy and Japan, yesterday for consideration in preference to the plan of Secretary Kellogg.

The object of the treaty, which was made public today, was defined as "a humane effort to achieve a union of civilized peoples through the common renunciation of war as an instrument of national policy."

All the signatories would be released from their obligations to the offender if one of the signatories should violate the pact, which would be offered to all nations for signature.

New Trial Granted

Springfield, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—Because of errors in the lower court trial, David Blumenfeld, erstwhile Chicago jeweler, convicted as an accomplice of David Funk in the robbery of the Farmers' Bank at Chenoa in 1924, was granted a new trial by the Supreme court today.

Blumenfeld was arrested in May, 1927. Methods used by the McLean county officers in attempting to take the jeweler back to Bloomington for trial received wide attention. While he was out on bond, the officers attempted to forcibly take him to the county and try him for robbery.

Blumenfeld was convicted on testimony on the bank cashier who said that Blumenfeld was an accomplice of Funk. Funk is now serving time for his part in the robbery. The jeweler set up an alibi that he was in New Orleans at the time of the robbery, as his defense.

Ashton Man Fined

Ashton, April 21.—James Lovett paid a fine of $150 and costs in Justice Jennings court here yesterday on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, on which he was arrested several days ago. He furnished a bond for continuance until yesterday, when the case came to trial and State's Attorney Mark C. Keller of Dixon was present.

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE CHARGE MADE AS RESULT OF FIRE IN DENVER WHICH TOOK 9 LIVES

Denver, April 21.—(AP)—Fatalities from the explosion and fire which wrecked a part of the plant of Alexander Industries near here yesterday mounted to nine today with the death of George Rowe, an employee.

Ten other persons, one of whom is expected to die, were in hospitals. District Attorney Joel E. Stone ordered a Coroner's jury impaneled and started an inquiry into what he declared was "the most flagrant case of criminal negligence I have ever seen."

$180,000 NEEDED TO COMPLETE NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

Special Election to Authorize Bond Issue May 5

Last year when the proposed high school bond issue was presented to the voters of school district number 170 the attorneys who were passing on the validity of the bonds refused to approve of an issue of more than the amount of $275,000. There had been some legislation recently passed which in their opinion made it impossible for them at that time to approve an issue of more than that amount until the courts had construed the law. Later on there was a supreme court decision which made it possible for all cities, villages and school districts to issue greater amounts of bonds than had theretofore been allowed and by virtue of that decision it is now possible for this school district to borrow money enough to complete the building, provided authority is given by vote to issue bonds for that purpose.

For the purpose of completing such a high school building as is required it is necessary that about $450,000 be raised. Unless that amount is provided the building cannot be completed as planned but it can be partly built and the balance will have to be added to from year to year.

The district requires $180,000 more in order that the work may be done as planned and the Board of Education is of opinion that a bond issue in that amount should be authorized.

The board has therefore called an election on the question of, issuing bonds to the amount of $180,000.

The election will be held on Saturday, May 5, from 12 o'clock noon until 5 o'clock p. m.

Mrs. Charles Greve of Ashton is Dead

(Telegraph Special Service.) Ashton, Ill., April 21.—Mrs. Charles Greve, aged 74, former resident of Ashton and sister of Mrs. George Aschenbrenner and Mrs. Bruce Worley of Dixon, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Hannah Bates of Marengo, Ill. at 3 o'clock this morning.

The body will be brought to Ashton for burial and funeral services will be held in the Methodist church here at 2:30 o'clock Monday afternoon, with burial in the Ashton cemetery.

Mrs. Greve, who had many friends in this community who will mourn her passing, is survived by two sons, Carl of Rochelle, and John of Freeport, two daughters, Mrs. Bates of Marengo, and whose home she died, and Mrs. Frank Kersten of Ashton; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Anderson of Rockford and Mrs. Aschenbrenner and Mrs. Worley of Dixon; and three brothers, John Bohart of Chicago, and Will and Frank Bohart of Ashton.

Lee Co. Bankers to Have Half Holidays

The banks of Lee county will close at noon Thursday during the months of May, June, July, August and September, as a result of action taken at the meeting of the Lee County Bankers' Federation at the Nachusa Tavern in this city Friday evening. The business meeting of the federation, which was attended by representatives of thirteen of the sixteen banks in the county, followed a dinner at 7 o'clock, and the following officers were elected during the evening:

Chairman—R. W. Ruckman, Amboy State Bank; Assistant Chairman—Amboy First National Bank; Secretary—Treasurer (permanent)—Frank H. Senger, Franklin Grove Bank.

Mrs. Edwin Lawrence of Sterling was a visitor in this city yesterday.

Four Big Days

The women of Dixon and vicinity are reminded to arrange their calendars of social activities so they can keep the afternoon of May 8, 9, 10 and 11 open for The Dixon Evening Telegraph's second annual free cooking school, which will be conducted in Downing hall on those days. The school this year will be bigger and better in every respect.

JURY REACHED VERDICT SOON AFTER VOTING

Wealthy Oil Man is Still Faced With Contempt Cases

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—Harry F. Sinclair today was acquitted of the charge that he conspired to defraud the government in the leasing of Teapot Dome.

A jury in the District of Columbia Supreme Court accepted his contention that when he paid Albert B. Fall $233,000 in Liberty bonds and $35,000 in cash it was for a part in the ranch owned by the former Secretary of the Interior and was not a part of a deal through which the Wyoming Naval Oil Reserve was turned over to him.

Immediately after the verdict was rendered Sinclair authorized this statement:

"I have felt since the inception of the oil cases that I would be acquitted of any charge of conspiracy to defraud the government, when the evidence went before a jury."

Wife Was Hysterical

Today in the court room he was surrounded by his friends who poured their congratulations upon him. Mrs. Sinclair was so deeply moved that she

Mother in Dixon Greeted from Washington

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Parker, who have many friends in Dixon, now reside in Seattle, Washington. Mrs. Parker was formerly Miss Joy Stitzel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Stitzel of this city. On Friday, April 13th, Mr. and Mrs. Stitzel quietly celebrated their thirty-seventh wedding anniversary, and Mrs. Stitzel also celebrated her birthday. There were the usual gifts and happy greeting from friends and relatives, but the most delightful event of the entire day and evening came at 11 o'clock that night, a long distance telephone call from Mrs. Parker to her mother, congratulating her and her father also. Thus it is again proven that the telephone is a great blessing, that it carries messages of joy as well as of sorrow, that it makes distance seem as nothing. Mrs. Parker and her family are well and happy.

Announce Marriage Occurring in February

Announcement was made this week of the marriage of Margaret Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Jones of Bradford township and Edwin Daw, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Daw, and grandson of Rena Halsey of Lee Center. The ceremony was performed February 4 at Joliet.

The bride is a graduate of the Franklin Grove high school and the groom is a graduate of the Lee Center high school. He is now employed by the Western Electric company in Chicago where the young couple will make their home.

Many friends of Lee Center and Amboy and vicinity are extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Daw.

DIVERSIFIED SNAKES FIGURE IN FASHIONS—

By Hazel Reavis

(Associated Press Fashion Editor)

Paris—(AP)—Reptile skin shoes are having a spring revival and eunomers in the shops that set the fashions are talking learnedly about boas, pythons, water snakes and lizards, plain and doctored.

As prices for the rarer snake skins mount it behooves the woman who is buying them to recognize the snake she wants when she meets it. Lizard, natural water snake and karung are fashionable but expensive skins which are offered in imitations that deceive many an unwary purchaser.

Dyed reptile appears now in rich shades of red, blue and green as well as black and natural tones. Boa skin shoes are shown in bright reds, dull deep blues and many shades of green. Mahogany and egg plane are other shades seen in the shops that make shoes to order.

Beige, most shoe dealers say, will be the outstanding color for summer shoes.

Elaborate shoes are out of fashion in Paris, both for evening and daytime wear. Elaborate embroidery and jeweled decoration has almost disappeared from the windows of the smartest shoe makers.

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Orange juice, cereal, cream, fresh beef on toast, extra toast, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON—Cheese fondue, stewed canned tomatoes, rye bread, scalloped apples, milk, tea.

DINNER—Stewed chicken with gravy, mashed potatoes, baking powder biscuits, fresh asparagus in butter, stuffed celery, radishes, carrot straws, maple parfait, crisp cookies, milk, coffee.

Sports Clothes Favored by Elite; Weddings

New York, April 21—(AP)—Sports in the country headed by the spring racing meetings of the United Hunt Association, vied with weddings in town for New York society's interest this week. Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt was among prominent women who had entries in the Association's racing meetings at Aqueduct, L. I. The Biltmore Steeplechase was a feature in which owners rode their own mounts.

The new sports kerchief worn about the neck, was a spring style note sponsored by Mrs. Robert Chandler on Westchester golf courses this week. Blue as a sports color is another fashionable vogue favored by Mrs. Chandler. She chose a cardigan sweater in a pastel shade, a frock of grey and blue crepe and a vagabond hat of grey felt.

Lace in new shades and original designs dominates the mode for wedding gowns. The white satin gown chosen by Miss Helen Coppell for her recent marriage to Edward H. Mitcham was distinguished by long point lace. A frock of rose beige lace with a short bolero jacket of lace and a large picture hat of natural leghorn were worn by her maid of honor.

The "lucky number" device in a novel setting was a feature of the Rainbow Ball which society gave this week for the benefit of the Association for the Aid of Crippled Children. The "lucky numbers" were concealed in toy balloons of rainbow shades. The balloons were sold and the winners received prizes.

The enormous white buttons worn by Pierrot and the colorful costume of Columbine appeared in "Carnivale," a dance pantomime given by the Junior League on the New Amsterdam roof this week. The Pantomime, produced and staged by Michael Mordkin, the Russian dancer, was given with the one act plays "The Birthday of the Infant" and "Shall We Join the Ladies" to illustrate the work done by debutantes in the theatrical school they have attended this winter.

Puritan flappers, colonial governors and gentlemen bootleggers of 1936 were features of "Not Now—Later," the Harvard Dramatic Club musical farce which attracted society to the Mecca Temple this week.

The English custom of a celebration honoring the eldest son on his twenty-first birthday is being adopted by New York society. David Rumsey, a student at Williams, is among those whose coming of age was celebrated this season.

Donald Moore's Birthday Day of Happiness

Donald, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore of North Dixon, was eight years old Thursday, and in the afternoon eight young friends were invited to his home where they celebrated the happy occasion in games and in enjoying the delicious birthday refreshments served by Mrs. Moore. The birthday cake was beautifully decorated with pink candles, and the table was also daintily decorated. The boys who helped Donald celebrate were Stanley Legner, Amos Grover, William Oakford, Edward Frye, George Richardson, Charles Smith, Vernon Sargent, Dudley Hubbard. The boys left the young host pretty gifts and many good wishes for happy returns of the day.

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

If you like stories of women who have succeeded, someone is bound to tell you to read Alice Foote Macdonough's "Autobiography of a Business Woman." I hope you don't. I did, and it's almost made me "agin" all business women. This w. k. lady restaurant keeper who has told the world for the past 15 years all about her terrible plight left with three children and a few coffee beans "to face life," says things like this in her book—

"It is all very well to have principles, rules of behavior concerning right and wrong. But it is quite as essential to know when to forget as when to use them."

She goes on to tell her cardinal rule to stand on her own feet in business, asking help from no one. Then proceeds to enumerate the way she used old friends of the family, borrowing from this one, having desk space in this one's office, and beseeching her friends for coffee orders.

One can only hope that all business women won't be judged by the evidence against one of them as expounded in her own words.

STRANGE FOODS

Speaking of cooking, or weren't we, when the life of a housewife grows too monotonous but when there is little chance of escape from its routine, why not try cooking in foreign tongues? A friend writes me from New York—"Life has become more endurable since I began collecting my foreign recipes by roaming about the waterfront and buying leeks, lentils, garlic, olive oil and all the ingredients not so used in our American dishes. The Italian green grocers have given me all sorts of cooking ideas, and my hobby for the present is about as consoling as china collecting."

"SHE HAS A BOOK!"

Why is it that books are not supposed to be too good for wedding presents? We are in sympathy with the anonymous author of the following—

"We have often lamented the passing of that quaint old custom of giving books for wedding presents. The old order changeth, but for ourselves we wouldn't look twice at a bride who rated a sixteenth sized bowl or a third set of ivory-handled nut-picks ahead of some choice addition to the family book-shelves."

HERE IT IS!

And, speaking of books as we surely were, here's another bunch of our List of One Hundred Good Novels which shall be published from time to time, as per request for summer—or winter—reading.

"Wuthering Heights," by Bronte; "Evelina," by Burney; "The Way of All Flesh," by Butler; "Don Quixote," by Cervantes; "The Red Badge of Courage," by Crane; "Dombey and Son," by Dickens; "The Brothers Karamazov," by Dostoevski; "Castle Rackrent," by Edgeworth; "The Mill on the Floss," by Eliot; "Tom Jones," by Fielding.

DEADLY EMOTIONS—

(Olive Roberts Barton)

A great leader once said, "The smaller the man, the greater the grudge." A great writer remarked, "No slight should last overnight." The Great Teacher said, "Lord, forgive them, for they know not what they do."

There isn't a psychiatrist who does not tell us that in the long run it is our emotions that kill us. Acid dispositions kill more people than acid stomachs. Vindictiveness is a weapon that kills its bearer more quickly than the person toward whom it is directed.

So it is with anger, jealousy, hatred—the whole gamut of elemental passions that at times become our masters.

Civilization rests with individuals, not with colleges. It is the get-even spirit that retards civilization, for the thing that actuates vengeance in a small way is the thing that lies behind war.

It is foolish to bear a grudge. What is done is done. "Put the unhappy event in a drawer of the mind," as one statesman expressed it, "close the drawer, lock it, and throw away the key."

Springtime should be the beginning of a spiritual New Year. Why not make a resolution to have a spring cleaning of grudges, and throw out all the bitterness and brooding?

The happiest moments of our lives are those in which we make friends with a sworn enemy.

Social Activities at Capital; Miss Trumbull Guest at White House

Washington, April 21—(AP)—Nothing could have added more strength to the pleasant gossip which has persisted for more than a year relative to the engagement of Miss Florence Trumbull and John Coolidge, than the presence of the young lady as a guest at the White House.

Mrs. Trumbull and her daughter arrived at the end of the week, and Governor Trumbull joined them there but simply remained over night. The day he left for Connecticut, Mrs. Trumbull and Miss Florence went to the Willard Hotel for the period of the D. A. R. Congress, which closes tonight.

Miss Trumbull was the personal page of Mrs. Alfred J. Broseau, President General, during the Congress.

At the White House Miss Trumbull is a great favorite.

While Miss Trumbull frequently said she and John Coolidge were only good friends, there is supposed to be a closer understanding between them and she wears a jeweled ring on her "engagement finger."

No one seems to realize better than does the Minister of Egypt, Mahmoud Samy Pasha, that spring is here. He and Mme. Samy Pasha took their little children to Annapolis this week.

They took their mid-day meal in the open. It was on the Egyptian national spring holiday, spent by all Egyptians in the open air.

The Vice President and Mrs. Dawes had a crowded house when Mrs. Dawes held next to her last day-at-home of the season.

She wore a fascinating gown of sand color lace in a dainty French pattern over satin, while graduated bands of velvet a little darker appeared on both the bodice and draped skirt.

The tea table presented a bounteous feast of sandwiches and cakes, some with colored icings. Tea and coffee, always a part of an at-home, was varied by fruit punch and leed chocolate.

At the Chilean Embassy where a musicale was given Thursday afternoon the Ambassador, Senor Don Carlos G. Davila, and Senora G. Davila also served an elaborate repast, including many dainties of their own country.

Mrs. Marshall Field, who has for years been a social power in Chicago and Washington, is occupying her Italian house of pink stucco out on Sixteenth Street for the spring, and early as it is, her Italian garden at the back of the residence is green.

Since suffering an illness while abroad Mrs. Marshall Field walks only with assistance and a wide board or gangplank is laid from her limousine to the doorway, when she goes motoring.

Starting with a dinner at the British Embassy with the Ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard as hosts,

Life's Niceties HINTS ON ETIQUET

1. Is it good taste to discuss things of a personal nature when there is a possibility of being overheard?
2. Should one ever gossip about other guests when attending a party?
3. How does the voice, laughter and general demeanor stamp a woman cultured or vulgar?

The Answers

1. Certainly not.
2. Never.
3. A low, well modulated voice, quiet demeanor and soft laughter are part and parcel of the lady. A high-pitched voice, boisterous laughter and loud talk reveal the vulgar person.

A lively pace was maintained in entertainment all during the week for Leander McCormick-Goodhart, commercial attache of the British Embassy, and Miss Janet Phillips, daughter of former Representative and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., of Pennsylvania, whose marriage will take place next Saturday.

Mrs. John B. Henderson gave a dinner for Mr. McCormick-Goodhart and his fiancée last night. The gifts bestowed upon Miss Phillips already reach into almost fabulous sum in money value.

Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes are sponsoring a fashion show which opens Monday night at the Willard Hotel under the auspices of the Mary Washington Chapter, D. A. R., the funds to be used for Wakefield Manor, birth-place of George Washington. Debutantes and well known society men will appear in the costumes ranging in period from 1628 to the present day.

All Need Knowledge Of Mental Diseases

"Each State Hospital in Illinois has a nursing school as a part of its work. This has been intensified since the former 'asylum' is now a 'hospital' with all the modern diagnostic and treatment facilities of the general hospital," states Dr. Alex. S. Hershfield, State Alienist.

"Nurses are given studies to sufficiently impress them with the importance of a knowledge of mental diseases and their responsibility in mental cases, besides the training in general nursing.

"These nurses become expert in their work. They soon learn to regard each patient as a personality and deftly show the results of making individuals of patients. Patients react to the nurses' kind ministrations and proper nursing such as we have in our state hospitals does much towards early improvement and parole from the institutions. One of the great factors in the successful nursing of the insane in our state hospitals is assisting the patients to a satisfactory general adjustment in his particular difficulty," states Dr. Hershfield.

The many friends of both bride and bridegroom will unite in wishing them every happiness. They will live on a farm west of Dixon, and are now enjoying a brief wedding trip.

North Shore Festival Will Be May 21-26

Chicago North Shore Festival association is announcing its twentieth annual music festival for the week of May 21 to 26 in Evanston.

A male chorus of 1,000 voices, the Chicago Symphony orchestra and distinguished soloists will present the programs. The ticket sale for course tickets will open April 5 to 9 and single tickets will be sold May 1.

South Dixon Community Club Meeting

The South Dixon Community club held a very delightful meeting Wednesday with Mrs. Ralph Lehman. There were eleven members and visitors present. The president called the meeting to order and all sang a new song. The president also gave a very clever reading. The remainder of the afternoon was spent in making flowers. Tempting refreshments were served by the hostess and the assisting hostess, Mrs. Dave Moore. The entire afternoon was replete with enjoyment for all.

STRING BELT STYLES ACCEPTED IN PARIS

Paris—(AP)—The string belt and elastic belt of extremely narrow width are seen everywhere in Paris. They even appear on simple evening dresses at one house.

The belt, which is a single string of strass, is used a great deal by a leading dressmaker whose ideas are widely followed by America. She clasps the string of strass around dresses of satin, georgette and chiffon at a point just atop the hip bone fastening it like a necklace without a buckle.

OFFICE SEEKS WOMAN, BAY STATE SELECTMAN

Avon, Mass.—(AP)—Without a campaign, without even seeking nomination, Miss Elinor Shaw has been elected Avon's first woman selectman thus becoming a member of the little board that runs the executive branch of this town's government.

Miss Shaw is no old-time resident of Avon. A former supervisor of music at the Rhode Island state normal school, she took up farming here eight years ago. The way she attended to her business impressed the townsfolk and soon she found herself on town committees.

WHAT COULD THE POOR GIRL DO?

By Olive Roberts Barton

"They say he gives her thirty-five dollars a week for the table alone. Anyone who can't feed her family on that shouldn't have a husband."

"He says that if you take his salary away from what he owes, the amount left on the debt side is what his wife's clothes cost."

"He told the judge that he couldn't pay her any more alimony. If he gives her any more he'll have to go to the Old Man's Home, he says, but she insists that he is rich."

There it is! That and much more of the same kind. Wives who do not know the condition of their husband's finances!

Yet it is not always the fault of the wife, by all means. Men are just as culpable.

Often a man deliberately gives his wife every reason to believe that his income is larger than it is. Foolish pride sometimes and sometimes an anxious desire to keep himself up to par in her estimation. Nothing hurts some men so deeply as the knowledge that their wives have a feeling they are not making good.

It is a mistake, though, for husbands to let wives feel that there is more to spend than there actually is. It is one of the chief causes of women overspending.

Again some men object to their wives knowing anything about their business affairs at all, just on general principles. They like to keep things a secret, even from the family. One woman said, "I don't know this minute whether Max is worth a thousand dollars or a billion."

There are other reasons for extravagance in women. Recently a friend said, "I may as well spend it. If I don't, John will. And I'll have something to show for it while he would just throw it away."

One man fussed about bills. His wife had bought the children new coats which she sent back at once, and bought cheaper ones instead.

"Where did you get those coats?" asked her husband a day or two later. "They are awful. You know I like the children to look nice."

If you remember an old song it might mean something to you if we say right here: "What Could the Poor Girl Do?"

OUR SHRINKING NATION.

Maybe you haven't noticed it, but the fact is that our country has been shrinking steadily for a number of years.

In the Pacific northwest, farmers and business men are uniting in planning the greatest irrigation project the world has ever seen. They would divert a river, lead it through lakes, tunnels and canals for some 120 miles, and use it to transform a 2,000,000-acre desert into a fertile farming area. This, they estimate, would provide farms for 500,000 people and measurably increase the nation's potential food supply.

There are plenty of men and women still living who can remember when the northwest—Washington and Oregon and adjacent states—symbolized a vast, open country where there was room for all comers. Millions of acres of idle land, rich and productive, lay there awaiting development. The frontiers were distant; the nation had not yet grown out to them.

Behold, now, how we have shrunk! The great northwest would spend something like $150,000,000 to bring a desert area under cultivation. Leaders in the movement say that by the time the work is completed the land will be badly needed. The nation, they say, will be needing all the crops it can grow, and will be vastly benefitted by the addition of this hitherto barren farm land.

All of this is only another way of saying that we're growing up. The country once seemed utterly limitless. If a man had bad luck in his home town he could always move farther west, find virgin territory and start all over again. That day is past now. We have filled up most of our empty spaces. The country is shrinking.

The result is that we now are in the second phase of our national development. The first phase was the era of exploitation. Mines were dug, timber was cut, oil pools were tapped, farmlands were settled, railroads were built. It was a huge job, and it was done rapidly. Now we have the task of co-ordinating things; of developing industries instead of exploiting natural resources.

There is just as much promise in the new era as in the old one. There is still as much opportunity for ambitious ability as there was before. The shrinking process has been a benefit, not a curse.

VETERANS' TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL.

Out of the millions of young men who served during the World War it is probable that there are millions who are not advised concerning the government provisions for their care. Those who needed government aid immediately upon being discharged applied for it. Others were less concerned. Only a part of this vast number have attached themselves to veterans' organizations, which keep them in touch with these affairs.

At hand is a letter published in the Typographical Journal. It is from a printer who was late in learning of possible refuge in the veterans' tuberculosis hospital in Arizona, and he is anxious that others shall not be so unfortunate. We pass it on for the benefit of any who may be afflicted:

"There are today probably hundreds of ex-service men who have tuberculosis and do not know that the government will care for them in its hospitals. Any honorably discharged World war veteran who contracts tuberculosis, or thinks his trouble might be tubercular, is entitled to medical examination at a regional office and the United States veterans' bureau, and if it is found that he has tuberculosis he will be admitted to a veterans' bureau hospital, regardless of whether or not his disability is connected with his military service. In addition he will be given compensation if he can prove his disability to be service connected.

"Since entering the veterans' bureau hospital here, I have heard of others, like myself, who did not know until after their arrival in Arizona that they were entitled to government hospitalization. I came here with a far-advanced case of pulmonary tuberculosis, but am glad to say that I am now much improved.

The Bremen flyers contributed to our education, anyway. We didn't know there were so many ways of spelling Greenly Island, didn't know where Greenly Island was—in fact, we never had heard of Greenly Island.

French critics told Will Hays that most of the Hollywood films were based on a public intelligence not more than 12 years old. Mr. Hays certainly must be enjoying his trip to Washington and Europe.

Charles M. Schwab is to sail for England soon to receive the Bessemer medal for having "done the most for steel." We thought that prize was all set for some Chicago gunman.

Congress finally got around to that farm bill. But we understand the farmers no longer have anything to be relieved of.

A newspaper in Mexico City has the right idea about news. A top head in a recent edition of El Sol related that a night had passed without a murder or a robbery.

A man without arms got married in Cleveland the other day. How in the world is he going to defend himself?

THE TNYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

The Tnymites were tickled pink, and very much relieved to think that they were absolutely safe from any sort of harm. The birds were kind as kind could be. Soon Scouty sighed, and said, "Ah me! 'Twas foolish that we worried. There is no cause for alarm."

"I feared the birds would peck us all, and chase us out, and make us fall. What saved us was the crackers that we fed them, I'll just bet. I guess that we will always find it pays to try and be real kind, for in return, it seems to me, it's kindness that you get."

The small birds then began to squeal. "Oh, my they want another meal," said Coppy. "I've some crackers left. Come help me feed them, please. To hold the crackers was a thrill. The birds would snap them with their bill. Wee! Clowny'd jerk them back a bit. He was an awful tease. "Oh, watch the sun," somebody

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Dearest Marye:

I can see that you are dissatisfied with Alan's promise of a car to Florence. My dear, you should not feel that way about it. You know you can't shut out a man's family—not if he is a worthwhile man. I don't suppose you would want to do that entirely but, like most wives, you seem to resent the fact that his life is not free of them.

Perhaps that would be an ideal state—for a selfish person. But one who is not selfish is certain to realize not a little pleasure from gaining new relationships through marriage. I've heard girls say they'd like to marry a man without a relative in the world.

What a lot they would miss. Some of it not agreeable, to be sure. But a man's life is enriched by family connections. If he has grown up from babyhood loving his mother and sisters his heart hasn't had a chance to freeze, and far from having less affection to bestow upon a wife, he has more. Even loving is a bit of a habit, I guess.

There are, of course, those men whose love for their mothers is an obsession—one of the things Frank's crowd talks about—but the average man who loves his mother as she deserves is capable of loving a wife more than the man whose whole experience with love is limited to his mate. He will not see in her the image of his mother and his love might be lacking in the element of reverence.

You have a good mother-in-law. Marye dear, and you have much more to thank her for than probably you ever realize. And if Alan would be willing to give up his future in

The Saddest Picture in the Whole World

COULD any picture touch you more deeply than that of your family in want and you unable to provide for them? Most of us with happy families do not think sufficiently of the time when an accident or ill health might cause a long period of disability and a final ending of our income. Comfortable savings against a rainy day are soon used up when the usual income stops.

We would like to show you how easy it is to buy protection now that will insure the comfort of your loved ones and yourself should the unexpected happen. There is no obligation. Won't you stop in to see us, or write or telephone for information?

The following item was clipped from the Ogel County Republican and printed by request of Mrs. Clarence Yocum who is a daughter of Mr. Kearns, now of Oregon, Ill. Many friends will no doubt be interested as he was a former resident of this vicinity:

Birthday Observed
E. H. Kearns reached his "three score and ten" Tuesday. Mrs. E. H. Kearns planned a complete surprise on her husband last Sunday by inviting all their children and grandchildren to the parental home to help celebrate his 70th anniversary which was on Tuesday, April 17. As the dinner was being placed on the table Mr. Kearns was invited into the yard to examine a car. When everything was in readiness, he was called and the surprise sprung. Three large birthday cakes, the largest one in the center of the table with a lovely hand mand and hand painted covering bearing 70 shining new dimes as a border to replace the long time customary candles, together with appropriate greeting verse.

To My Father
When God made the earth in the years that are gone,
And filled it with beautiful things;

With oceans and mountains and flowers that bloom,
And birds on their delicate wings;
He remembered that earth needed something besides;

That the heart would want something much rather;
So He summed up protection and honor and love
And gave us a dear earthly father."

This was given by Wilbur Kearns and family of Clinton, Iowa. The other cakes, one of which was beautifully decorated with E. H. K., and the other carried the candles, all supplied by his good wife and children.

Those present at this joyous occasion were, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Kearns and family of Clinton, Iowa; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Yocum and family of Franklin Grove; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kearns of Rockford and John Kearns of Oregon. One daughter, Mrs. F. M. Berry and family could not be present. Mr. Kearns was remembered generously by his children.

PRESIDENTIAL PORTRAITS

The Story of Chas. G. Dawes

EDITOR'S NOTE: This, the 12th in a series of Presidential Campaign Portraits written for The Telegraph and NEA Service by Robert Talley, is the first of four articles discussing Vice President Charles G. Dawes. The second article on Dawes will be printed Monday.

BY ROBERT TALLEY
NEA Service Writer

Washington, April 21.—The A. E. F. won a great staff officer and the nation won a most picturesque vice president, but the stage lost a great actor when Charles G. Dawes chose business and politics for his career. The country probably looks upon "Hell an' Maria" Dawes—now a possible presidential candidate—as an erratic, violent man who flies at problems with a noise like a fire engine, who curses out congressional committees, bawls out the U. S. Senate to its face and, in debate, seems to rely on his ability to shout louder, bang the table harder and grow redder than his opponent. It also has heard that he plays soft melodies on the violin, but it probably thinks of him oftener in terms of a blaring callopie.

But the real Dawes is neither a roughneck nor a hell-raiser by nature; these apparent outbursts of anger and vehemence are mere tricks to attract public attention to matters that he wants to get before the people. In his candid moments he has admitted it. He knows the value of advertising—and he can measure the size of a newspaper headline by what he plans to say. In short, he is a supersalesman.

Dawes is a man of cultured urbanity, 63 years old, with a fondness for classical literature and art, a lover of music and the composer of "Melody in A" which Fritz Kreisler has played at his concerts. Above all else, he is a keen-witted business executive, banker and politician.

In the vice president's luxurious office in the capitol I found him the other day, puffing on his familiar underslung pipe behind his mahogany desk in the center of the room.

Despite his fire and brimstone reputation, which extends all the way from the A. E. F. to the Senate chamber, Dawes is dignified, courteous and cordial. He didn't even use the word "damn" during the entire conversation. There was nothing of the hard-boiled army officer type about him.

I asked the general (that is the way his office staff addresses him) about his reputation as a fire-eater, but he waved aside the question with a smile. When I persisted he referred me to his book on his experiences in the war as an answer to the question.

There, I found, the real Dawes had unburied himself. It contains his frank admission that he feigns a policy of hell-raising to carry his point; first, on the theory that the best defense is offense; second, that verbal fireworks can be depended on to arouse public interest in a dull subject. His excuse in getting before the people his fight on the Senate rules is a good example.

Among General Dawes' retrospection I found this:

"It amuses me to think of what must have been the first impressions of me of those splendid officers and dear friends—so used to conventional military methods of statement and address—when, breathing fire and brimstone, I made my incursions into the system after results, my mind fixed upon the red-hot poker of dire necessity pressed against the lower part of my back and oblivious to nicety of expression or conventional forms of military salutation."

Knowing that "the general" plays the piano the violin and the flute and has written several compositions, I asked him about his love for music. This recalled the familiar story that his parents, fearing he would grow up to be a poorly-paid musician, had forbidden him to play and that he had sneaked upstairs with a flute under his coat—choosing the flute because it was easily concealed and because its notes could not be heard outside his room.

"Half of that story is true and half of it is untrue," Dawes replied. "While my father wouldn't let me take music lessons for fear I might choose music as a career, he didn't object to my playing. So I never took a music lesson in my life."

Music has given him solace throughout life. When comptroller of the currency in his early days he used to go to the White House and play the piano for the invalid wife of President McKinley. While chief of the A. E. F. supply train in France he kept a piano in his bedroom at his Paris hotel to afford relaxation after a hard day's work. While head of the Dawes commission to Europe he once became so interested while playing the piano at the home of an American consul that he forgot all about an important session with gold-braided diplomats. In Washington now he spends many of his evenings with his family in the music room of his home.

Charles Gates Dawes was born April 27, 1865, at Marietta, O., the son of General Rufus R. Dawes, commander of the famous "Iron Brigade" of the Civil War. He was graduated from Marietta College and Cincinnati Law School and in 1887 went to Lincoln, Neb., to live with an uncle and begin the practice of law.

After seven years that produced little law practice—but a friendship that was later to shape his whole career—he began investing in public utilities with borrowed money. Then he moved to Evanston, Ill. This was the dawn of the era of public utilities; he induced John Walsh, the famous Chicago utilities magnate, to back him, and success followed success. When, at 32, he became McKinley's Illinois campaign manager, he was already wealthy. After election, McKinley appointed Dawes comptroller of currency.

Then came the "Lorimer bank scandal."

Dawes met McKinley through William Lorimer, a Chicago banker and politician. Lorimer was Dawes' political friend for years. In 1912 Lorimer's bank was in trouble. Dawes head of a big bank in Chicago, was appealed to for aid. Without consulting his directors, Dawes "loaned" Lorimer's bank $1,250,000. The money really never changed hands. It was merely shown to the bank examiner, and it satisfied him. But Lorimer's bank later failed and the story came out. Dawes' bank was sued by Lorimer's depositors and a judgment for $1,400,000 obtained. After 10 years in the courts this was finally whittled down to $110,000.

Friends of Dawes say he was innocently trying to aid an old friend and that he was guilty of no conscious wrong-doing. Foes insist that Dawes was well aware of the shaky condition of Lorimer's bank and should not have made a "fake" loan. "I will not debate my character with any man," is the only reply Dawes has ever made.

In those lean years of law practice back in Lincoln, Neb., 40 years ago—when both were eating at Don Cameron's 15-cent lunch room—Dawes met a young army officer whose life-long friendship was destined to shape his whole career. The young officer, a military instructor assigned to the University of Nebraska, was Lieut. John J. Pershing. How their paths crossed again—in the great adventure of 1917—will be told in the next story.

AMBOY NEWS

Amboy—The Passion Play, which was shown at the Shadows theater Tuesday and Wednesday, was an accurate portrayal of the incidents surrounding the coming of Christ, from the Nativity to Calvary.

It was however unrealistic, that is there was no character which stood out prominently. Even the Christ seemed an unreal, supernatural being from another world, and not the vitally real man that Emil Ludwig has taught us to know as Jesus. The other characters were merely people, that is they seemed to have no direct connection with the story, even the disciples seemed only figureheads, that held no part in the story.

It seemed as though the picture portrayed a series of incidents and not the connected story of Christ's life. Through some defect in the filming, or perhaps it was in the machine that showed it, but the pictures were blurred to such an extent that it was impossible to watch the screen for any length of time.

Despite this fact however the show was crowded both nights, and it is probable that not so many would have been disappointed if it had not been advertised so highly.

Amboy—Dr. C. A. Ziegler, secretary of the Township High School board, and F. N. Vaughn, president, have prepared a financial statement of the board of education. The statement shows receipts amounting to $36,222.23 and total warrants drawn for the year ending March 31, 1923, $35,988.62, leaving a balance on hand of $233.61.

J. J. Cole was the principal speaker at a dairy meeting held at Harmon Wednesday evening. Mr. Cole talked on the "Advantages of Healthy Cattle and the Importance of Tuberculosis."

A new milk route from Malden was started last week following a meeting at that place and about 2,500 pounds of milk daily is expected from there within the next few months.

R. V. Thompson succeeded C. E. Hallett this week as manager of the local Great American store which is now a part of the National Tea Company. Mr. Thompson comes to Amboy from Rockford, where he was employed with the Great American store there. Dorothy Hupach has been employed as clerk.

The Amboy Commercial Club will hold their regular bi-monthly evening luncheon Monday. The entertainment committee has prepared an unusually good program. The principal speaker to be R. J. Thane, general advertising manager of the Carson, Pirie, Scott & Co. store of Chicago. The organization was founded in Amboy. Thane will undoubtedly bring a message of unusual interest to every business man in the city, and the entertainment committee urges each and every member to be present.

A Buick car driven by a Rockford man whose name was not secured, skidded on the pavement north of Amboy Sunday morning and overturned in a ditch on the west side of the road. Not even a pane of glass was broken on the car and the driver was very fortunate in escaping without injury. Edward's wrecker was summoned and righted the car so that it was able to proceed on its way.

G. L. Carpenter drove to Springfield Thursday to attend the State Republican convention.

An old time fiddler's, musician's, hog-caller's, and dancer's contest will be held Thursday night, April 26th at the Shadows Theater starting at 8:30 o'clock. Cash prizes of $50.00 are to be awarded. Any person can enter the contest and has only to leave his or her name at the theater window as he enters. Participants will be admitted free.

SMITH: Given instructed state delegation of 26 by Iowa Democratic convention; assured also entire state delegation of 58 from Illinois, under instructions given by state Democratic convention.

LOWDEN: Captured entire state delegation of Illinois, numbering 61, under instructions voted by Republican state convention.

HOOPER: Annexed two more delegates by action of district Republican convention in Michigan, assuring him of at least 18 from that state.

This brings Smith's total of generally conceded convention votes up to nearly 300. The other assured votes among delegates already selected are Reed, 36; George, 28; and Hitchcock, 16. It takes 733 to nominate.

Hoover remains in the lead among the Republicans, assured of somewhere in the neighborhood of 225. Lowden, on the same basis, has about 170; Norris 28; Curtis 24, and Borah 11. A total of 545 are needed to nominate.

DURKIN SENTENCE UPHELD TODAY BY HIGHEST TRIBUNAL

Dandy Gunman's Plea is Denied: Must Serve 35 Years in Cell

Springfield, Ill., April 21.—(AP)—The Supreme Court today affirmed judgment of the Cook County Criminal Court in the case of Martin Durkin, erstwhile "dandy" gunman and slayer of Edward Shanahan, federal officer in Chicago. Durkin was sentenced to 35 years imprisonment.

Attorneys for Durkin, alias Marty Westford, appealed his case to the Supreme Court of Illinois on the grounds that he was tried not for one but for half a dozen crimes.

He was sentenced to 35 years imprisonment for the slaying of Shanahan, a special agent of the government; but to bring about his conviction on this charge, it was necessary to review the career of the alleged gunman, which included several other crimes.

Other Allegations. Among those mentioned by his attorneys in their appeal were: "boozing," interstate transportation of stolen automobiles, automobile theft, burglary and violation of the Mann act.

At his trial for the Shanahan slaying, one of the most important witnesses was Betty Andrews, his erstwhile traveling companion. Principally through her testimony, the state was able to build up the story of Durkin's career.

Durkin's business necessitated frequent cross-country trips, from Chicago to California. On these trips Betty Andrews and her child, Lucille, often accompanied him. Incidents on the last trip led to his final apprehension.

It was on a return journey that Durkin told Betty Andrews that he would never be captured alive. This was, according to her testimony, just after the burglary of an automobile display room in Pasadena.

Dispute Brought Tip.

On this trip back to Chicago, Durkin and Miss Andrews met one Harlow George, and his wife, in Albuquerque, New Mexico and they proceeded to Chicago together. Arriving in Chicago, a dispute arose between the men, and George tipped off federal agents that Durkin was in town.

Going to the garage where Durkin's car was known to be kept, Shanahan and his companion awaited until Durkin drove in. Shanahan approached him, and Durkin shot the agent twice. Durkin fled, shot, and temporarily made good his escape.

A nation wide search followed, which ended in the drawing room of a railroad car at Webster Groves, Mo., a suburb of St. Louis.

The gunman, who was also regarded as a "dandy," pleaded self defense at his trial. Shanahan, he testified, had "stuck a gun in his ribs" and also had fired at him, and he believed the federal man was after the $2,000 he was carrying, the proceeds of a "boozing deal."

The testimony of Betty Andrews, whom he had deserted, was said to have been largely responsible for his conviction.

Three Performances. Two performances will be given in the evening at which time the following radio stars will make their appearance: Wynken, Blynken & Nod, entertainers.

Flavia Plazencia, Spanish grand opera baritone.

Art Lynick, "Mrs. Schlagenhauser"—comedian.

Jean Matier—singer and entertainer.

Art Wellman—pianist.

Quin Ryan—Master of ceremonies and WGN announcer in lecture on important broadcasts of outstanding sporting events, to be followed by special motion pictures of these events.

In presenting the radio show, the Kiwanians have tried to select a program which will prove entertaining to all. The numbers and characters who will appear, are outstanding entertainers in radio.

Runners Race in Mud. Miller, Mo., April 21.—(AP)—Re-moving an accumulation of mud the cross-country marathon caravan today turned toward Springfield, 35 miles east of here.

The mud was acquired on a 46.7 mile trek from Joplin yesterday which John Guber of Moberly, Mo., covered in 6:55:43 to lead the rain soaked field of 76.

tion of the devil. Men used to be too lazy to shave off their beards, making the feeble excuse that it was bad for the throat to be clean-shaven. Some still claim that it is wrong to shave because God intended the flowing beard for man's protection and "decoration!"

This clinging to habits of the past is mostly because of mental inertia and the fact that it takes a certain amount of physical and mental effort to change to new habits, even when they appear to be good ones!

The plea is made by some that what was good for their grandparents is good for them. One might as well refuse to use automobiles and elevators for the same reason!

We are living in a SCIENTIFIC AGE, and the fruits of modern science cannot be enjoyed unless we are willing to LEARN NEW WAYS OF LIVING WHICH FIT THE NEW AGE OR ADVANCEMENT AND PROGRESS!

The pancakes of our grandfathers did not cause the same amount of trouble that they do today, with our nervous systems so highly sensitized to modern living conditions. The man who wants to succeed—be a "go-getter"—cannot afford to burden himself for the day with a breakfast of sausages and hot cakes. If he is trying to sell life insurance, for example, he will be lucky to sell a $5,000 policy, while the keen-minded competitor who has eaten a simple, wholesome breakfast has no difficulty in securing a client's signature to a policy twice as large!

Only a few years back the business man ate a hearty dinner in the middle of the day, and dozed away several hours of valuable time during the afternoon. If he does this today his business is bound to suffer and his rival in business, who has not thus burdened himself with heavy food, will land the coveted contract.

It is a great mistake to practice easy-going, old-fashioned, habits of eating which do not fit in with the changes that have been going on in this new age of keen competition—where the plums of success can only be plucked by those who are not too lazy to reconstruct their habits of eating, exercising and thinking, to better harmonize and to be more properly suited to the changing requirements of modern living.

BILE AND "THE BLUES"

The liver is a spongy organ for the production of liquids necessary to digestion, being made from waste products of the body, and are thrown out through the liver into the intestines to aid in digesting food at the same time that they are expelled.

When the skin becomes a yellow, sallow color, the tongue coated, and headaches persist, these are indications that bile is being stored up in the liver and not sufficiently eliminated. One in this condition is being literally poisoned by bile which in the right quantity is helpful and necessary to digestion.

A frequent cause of this retention of bile is the stoppage of the bile ducts by catarrhal inflammation of the ducts, causing stricture; by pressure of tumors or feces in the hepatic flexure of the colon; also, the pressure caused by pregnancy, and the lodgment of gall stones which stop up the flow.

Constipation may also exist, and produce intestinal toxemia by the re-absorption of poisons which have not been expelled rapidly enough.

There may be no sign of an organic disease of the liver, but just an inability to function well enough to place upon this organic function by take care of the unnatural burden one who is eating more food of every kind than the body can use and make a part of the cell structure.

Often there is an inability to take care of even a normal amount of food, because the body is enervated by bad habits other than eating, which waste the energy that should

A group of celebrities before the radio microphone WGN. be used by the liver. A sedentary life, late hours, and excesses of every kind produce a condition which cannot really be completely overcome, even by the most judicious dieting.

After understanding these causes it is not difficult to formulate the necessary method of cure. Bad habits, which cause this unwholesome retention, must be overcome. Unquestionably, the entire elimination of the starches, sugars, and fats for a considerable period of time will bring about very satisfactory results, but the cure is more rapid if a fruit fast is strictly adhered to for a few days, followed by careful dieting until the liver is able to do a reasonable amount of work, and all bilious habits are corrected.

Do not expect to accomplish all of this by diet alone, for if not enough exercise is taken, it will be almost impossible to eat such a small amount of food as to make metabolism well-balanced, whereas, if vigorous physical culture exercises are indulged in each day, one does not have to be so careful in balancing the proper quantity and quality of food.

Long walks in the open air, with deep breathing, will bring about astonishing results in correcting faulty metabolism and adjusting the manufacture of bile so that no excess bile is accumulated in the liver or gall bladder.

If one has been over-burdened with bile for a long period of time, he must not expect an instantaneous readjustment, but, if proper health rules are followed conscientiously, I can assure you that a permanent cure can be achieved in a reasonably short length of time.

No matter how bad your state of mental depression, if you will get rid of the cause of your biliousness, you will soon find that you will no longer be upset with attacks of "the blues."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
Question: Marie asks: "What is the cause of peritonitis, and how long can a patient have same before death takes place?"

Answer: Peritonitis simply means inflammation of the peritoneum which is the membrane lining the inside of your abdomen. Disease or inflammation in any of the abdominal organs can spread to the peritoneum. Peritonitis is a serious condition, but not necessarily fatal. Most deaths from peritonitis take place after surgical operations.

Question: Mrs. B. K. asks: "Is nut margarin a good butter substitute?"

Answer: I do not know of any nut butter which is a perfect butter substitute. The nourishing part of butter is practically 100 per cent fat, where the nut butters are usually from 40 percent to 60 percent fat. Oleomargarin is closer to a butter substitute, but any of these so-called butter substitutes are healthful foods if used in the proper manner.

Question: W. N. H. asks: "Will you kindly tell me if a radium pad will help cure one of stomach trouble, such as belching gas, and ulcers?"

Answer: Those who specialize in the treatment of disease by the use of radium do not use it in the treatment of ulcers or to get rid of flatulence. It is used principally to burn off warts or moles, and in the treatment of various types of cancer. It is used for its destructive power. The theory is that it destroys degenerating tissue more quickly than normal tissue. It is a very dangerous element to use and should only be used by a skilled physician who is a specialist in the use of radium.

Question: A Worried Parent writes: "My boy never want to eat vegetables. Also, he always perspires very freely when sleeping. What can I do to make him eat more wholesome foods, and prevent this excessive perspiring so he can become strong?"

Answer: Your boy is not weak because he perspires, but because he is suffering from some toxemia in his body. His life is really being saved because he perspires and gets rid of some of these poisons during sleep. The best way to get him to eat green vegetables is to give him a fast for a few days and when he starts eating again give him only the foods he should have, and you will find he will be hungry for anything. Follow closely the menus which appear in this column.

Question: J. B. writes: "I am 57 years old, doing light inside work. Have been twenty pounds underweight for the past 30 years, but never sick—always on the job and full of pep. I eat two meals a day. Do you think I should eat more to try to gain in weight?"

Answer: Feeling as good as you do, I think it would be folly for you to do anything to try to gain weight. Your chances for reaching three score and ten are much better if your weight is kept slightly under that figure which is usually given in weight tables. If you will plan your meals so as to get all of the different food elements your body requires, you need never be afraid of eating too little. The danger is always in eating too much.

YOUTH IS SAVED FROM LANDSLIDE BY GIRL SCOUT

Latter Given Reward for Heroism: Honorable Mention

Digging out a little boy who had been knocked down and buried beneath a ton of earth that had fallen from an overhanging bank resulted in the award of a Certificate of Honorable Mention to twelve-year-old Ellen Hill, a Girl Scout of Butte, Montana. This announcement was made recently by Mrs. Arthur Osgood Choate, chairman of the standards committee at the national Girl Scout headquarters.

Deneth Ton of Dirt.
The little boy was playing beneath a ledge of dirt, according to a letter received from his mother, where a gravel and sand pile had been left by workmen for the repairing of the road. The bank broke away and, it was estimated, that more than a ton of earth fell on and around the boy, knocking him down and completely burying him.

Sent for Aid.
Ellen and some smaller children were playing nearby when the catastrophe occurred and she immediately sent the children for aid while she proceeded to dig madly to find the boy before he suffocated to death. She explained the act later by saying, "I just didn't know where to dig so I dug everywhere." She finally unearthed the child's arm and then was able to locate his head, eventually uncovering him completely. By the time assistance came to her she had pulled the child completely out of the landslide was administering first aid treatment.

The certificate of Honorable Mention is only given to a Girl Scout by the national standards committee when she has shown presence of mind and demonstrated the true Girl Scout spirit in an emergency.

The people of Dixon and community will soon be asked to raise a budget of $1,200 to carry on the rapidly growing Girl Scouts' activities in this vicinity. Announcements of the date of the campaign will be made soon.

Co-Ed May Earn Wisconsin "W"

When Big Ten golf teams meet Wisconsin this year, they are likely to find pretty Dorothy Page, a sophomore at Madison, as one of their opponents. Never before has a co-ed represented a Big Ten or any other school on the varsity golf squad, but material is scarce at Wisconsin this year and the ability of Miss Page on the links being known she was asked to compete. She at present holds the Wisconsin woman's state title, is a former holder of the western title, is considered one of the most prominent young golfers of this day among her sex. She shoots consistently around 77.

Easterling Out in Front in American Chicago, April 21.—(AP)—Paul Easterling is far ahead in the field in the race for individual batting honors in the American League.

Easterling has been at bat 11 times, in which he has bagged seven hits for ten bases and an average of .636. This average is 107 percentage points ahead of the slugging New York Yan- kee veteran, Bob Meusel, who is second.

"Columbi Lou" Gehrig of the Yan- kees was third with an average of .470. Other leaders, in order of their standings: Joe Sewell, Cleveland .467; Harry McDougall, Chicago .444; Rice, Washington .437; Bluege, Washington K. Williams, Boston; Miller, Philadel- phia and Barrett, Chicago .417 each; Ty Cobb, Philadelphia .412; Langford, Cleveland, and Rollings, Boston .400 each. Big Falk of the White Sox was at bat 12 times but was the only play- er to go hitless.

The Yankees resumed their perch at first place in the team batting av- erages with a record of .325. Others followed Philadelphia .275; Chicago .274; Cleveland .273; Washington .271; Detroit .260; Boston .250; and St. Louis .228.

In team fielding the Yankees were last while Cleveland was first with an average of .979. The teams' averages: Boston .974; Washington .973; Chic- ago and Philadelphia .965; St. Louis .959; Detroit .948; and New York .947.

THIS HAS HAPPENED

DAVID, the orphan and col- lege student, who is working on CLEM CARSON'S farm during the summer, strikes Clem a terrible blow because he makes insulting remarks about David's friendship for SALLY FORD, ward of the orphanage.

"Farmed out" to Clem for the summer, Sally and David see and join a carnival. David as cook's help- er and Sally in a sideshow dis- guised as "Princess Lalla," crys- tal seer.

NITA, the Tulsa dancer, who is in- fatuated with David, threatens to tip the police on that Sally and David are with the carnival if she doesn't keep "hands off" David.

The capital city, location of the orphanage, Sally is recognized when the little orphan troop in with a beautiful woman who is playing "Lads and Bonifants." GUS, the Barker, manages to divert at- tention and Sally is saved.

The night the terrible storm blows up and when the tent falls Sally finds herself supported in the arms of her earlier in the day. He tells her he knows her real identity. When they are rescued from under the tent, Sally learns the carnival safe has been robbed and that David and Nita are mis- takenly taken for the Barker's carnival owner, not to send the police after David until he has had a chance to return.

At the night the tent falls out in the night to find him. At daybreak she sees him coming toward her, and in his arms she finds him. Back on the train he tells of following Nita and STEVE as they fled with the money.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXXII

"I reckon I'd better not tell you that I did save the money," David grinned at her. "I surely hate to see you faint, ma'am. It isn't so pleasant."

"Dave, you answer me this min- ute!" the old lady commanded, shaking a skinny finger in his face. "Do you know the outfit'll be stranded if those two crooks did get away with the money? Every cent we had in the world was in that safe! You ought to be ashamed of yourself, teasing an old woman!"

"I did save the money, if that's what you're in the suitcases, Mrs. Bybee," David answered more se- riously.

"Then where is it? What have you done with it? Left it lying in the road?" the showman's wife screeched, her eyes wild in her gray, wrinkled face.

Sally lifted her face from David's caressing hand and glared at Mrs. Bybee. "Of course he didn't leave it lying in the road! After risking his life to save it for you? David is the cleverest and bravest man in the world! Don't you know that yet?"

"Dear little Sally!" he murmured as he fell back, overcomes with dizi- ness. "She guessed it, sir," he said drowsily, turning his head with an effort to face Bybee. "I knew I couldn't carry it far, so I hid it. The Steve chap was knocked out cold—I suppose they'll have an other charge of assault with intent to kill against me now—so I knew he couldn't see what I was doing."

"I took the two suitcases across the road, holding them in one hand, because by that time my shoulder was bleeding so I was afraid to strain it. There's a farm right at the bend of the road. I struck a match and read the name on the mail box nailed to a post on the road. The name's Randall—C. J. Randall, R. F. D. 2. You oughtn't to have any trouble finding the place."

"There wasn't any moon, but the stars were, so bright after the storm that I could just make out a barn about a hundred yards from the road. I cut across the corn- field and managed to reach the barn. There wasn't a sound, not even a dog barking, lucky for me, for if I'd been caught with the suitcases I'd have had a fine time explaining how I happened to get them and what I was doing with them. But I had to take that chance."

"Even if the police had caught you with them, I'd never have be- lieved that you robbed Pop Bybee," Sally assured him, tears shining with pride.

DIXON TRIUMPHS
IN SECOND EVENT
OF CURRENT WEEK

Oregon H. S. Track
Team is Defeated
in Dual Meet

The Dixon high school track team scored its second victory yesterday afternoon in a dual meet with the Oregon high school. It was the second victory of the week, the athletes having defeated Polo last Tuesday afternoon, but Oregon proved a far stronger contender. About 25 athletes came from Oregon and made a very creditable showing. The weather conditions were not adaptable to track and field events, but gave the teams a good workout. Oregon took both first and second in the mile, first in the half mile, first in the broad jump, first and second in the shot put and first in the high jump.

Captain O'Malley and Delbert Blackburn were high point winners of the afternoon, each scoring 15 points each. Flanagan was second with ten points; Plozman 6; Marks, Reagan, 5; Barnett, 5; Girndt, 4; Miller, 3; Dawson, 2; Riddlebauer, 1. Dixon scored 72 points to Oregon's 54.

Coach A. C. Bowers announced today the cancelling of the annual road race between the Sterling and Dixon high schools, it being necessary to call off this event on account of the repaving of the brick section east of Sterling. The two schools will engage in a cross country run on the same date with 15 entries from each of the schools, who will run one and one-quarter miles, finishing at the Sterling track where the final half mile will be run.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

(BY THE AP)
The impending battle between pitcher and batsman found the former holding a temporary advantage today. Yesterday effective pitching was the rule rather than the exception. It had been the previous day when 15 home runs and an avalanche of lesser blows drove hurriers to cover in nearly every major league game.

Aided and abetted by Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, the left-handed speedball ace, Robert Moses Grove, pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to a 2 to 1 victory over the New York Yankees. It was the first victory of the season for the Mackmen. Grove gained ample revenge for the trouncing he suffered in the opening game of the season at Philadelphia ten days ago. His fast one held the Yankees at bay. Eight of them expired on strikes and only five hits were garnered. Singles by Max Bishop, Cobb and Speaker gave the Mackmen their first run and a triple by Cobb followed by Speaker's sacrifice fly accounted for the winning tally in the ninth. George Pipgras started for the Yankees but was relieved by Wilky Moore.

It was a bad day for the other leaders in the American League—Cleveland and Washington. At Cleveland, the Chicago White Sox turned on the Indians and hammered out an 11 to 1 triumph. At Washington, the league leaders' eight hits well scattered and fanned six. Three Indian hurriers were ineffective and so was their support.

The Washington Senators remained in a second place tie with the Yankees by bowing to the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 5, at the National Capital. Goose Goslin's third home run of the year was the high spot of a fourth inning rampage that netted the Senators four runs but the Red Sox kept pecking away at the offerings of three Senator pitchers until that advantage had been overcome.

Successive circuit drives by Marty Momanus and Easterling in the second inning against St. Louis. That was all the scoring the Tigers did. Earl Whitthill blanked the Browns with only four hits. The Tigers got but five off Jack Ogden and Wright. The Browns now have lost five in a row.

In the National league, at Chicago Eppa Rixey threw the ball past the hard-hitting Chicago Cubs with monotonous regularity and the Cincinnati Reds galloped off with a 6 to 0 decision. Rixey gave up four hits while the Reds were hammering Charley Root and Johnny Welch for an even dozen.

Five runs in the seventh enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to register their second win over Pittsburgh, 6 to 2. Burleigh Grimes was knocked out of the box during the Cardinal uprising. Wattle Holm got five of the visitors' 16 hits, although granting 11 safeties. Jess Haines was effective in

TWO JACKS REST IN CORNERS FOR SUIT RESUMPTION

Dempsey and Kearns Occupy Spotlight in
New York Court

New York, April 21.—(AP)—A pair of jacks were in their corners today, resting for the next round of a finish fight with a $700,000 purse hanging in the balance.

Jack Dempsey, once heavyweight champion of the world, occupied yesterday the spotlight that knows him so well. Jack Kearns may get his turn when trial of his breach of contract for $707,063 is resumed Monday.

Dempsey was called to the witness stand yesterday and testified he had paid to Kearns no part of his ring earnings Sept. 1, 1924 and July 1, 1926, when Kearns claims he had a contract as Dempsey's manager.

The "Manassa Mauler" testified he had earned about $35,000 in exhibition bouts during 1925 and had made no accounting to Kearns, who contends he was entitled to one-third of Dempsey's income.

Lost In Europe
"You also gave exhibition bouts in Europe, didn't you?" quired Arthur N. Sager, counsel for Kearns. "How much did you make there?"

"I lost about $3,000," the former champion replied as he broke into a grin.

Dempsey testified he had received $450,000 for his first bout with Tunney while $300,000 went to Gene Normile, his business manager at that time. Tex Rickard had said that Dempsey had been given $700,000.

Lew Raymond, New York matchmaker, another witness, testified that as late as 1925, Dempsey still considered Kearns his manager. At South Bend, Ind., in September of 1925, Raymond said Dempsey told him: "Kearns will get his end of this. I just want to keep him away from my camp. Kearns is still my manager."

At the morning session, Sager had alleged the split between the two jacks came after Dempsey's marriage to Estelle Taylor in 1924.

Dempsey, said Sager, was bound to Kearns by a three-year contract negotiated in 1923. Dempsey replied the contract was made merely to fulfill the requirements of the New York State Athletic Commission.

The trial will be resumed Monday morning.

Grantham Leading National Hitters

New York, April 21.—(AP)—The first eight days of play in the National League saw George Grantham of the Pirates step to the top of the batting list with an average of .579 for five games. Delaney and Urban of Boston both topped this figure, but each played in only three games, and neither rates as a regular. Grantham's average was compiled through his solving rival pitchers for eight singles and three doubles in nineteen official times at bat. The Pirate infielder also drove in five runs.

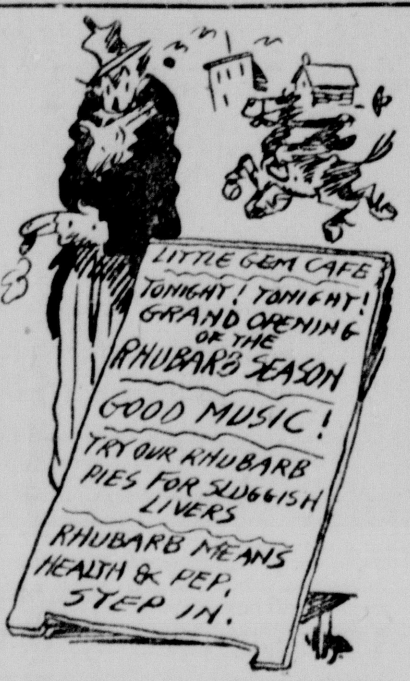

Frankie Frisch shares offensive honors with Grantham. The Cardinal infielder not only led in runs batted in with eight, but tied for the

New Relay Records

Columbus, O., April 21.—(AP)—Seven new Ohio relay records, hung up in the eight events completed, today spurred hundreds of athletes from the middlewest, south and east to continue their wholesale record breaking assaults.

Old marks fell before high school lads, competing from nine states, in the shot put, high jump, 120 yard low hurdles, relay, half mile relay, and junior high half mile. The old mark of 12 feet 5.1-2 inches in the pole vault was the only one to stand.

JOE DUNDEE WINS.
Tampa, Fla., April 20.—(20)—Joe Dundee, Baltimore, holder of the welterweight crown, knocked out Julian Jim Moran, Tampa, former Spanish titleholder in the ninth round of a ten-round main bout here tonight. Dundee weighed 149, and Moran 150. Dundee's title was not at stake. Rufino Alvarez, Spanish lightweight, knocked out Adrian Van Balen in the second round of the eight-round semi-final.

lead in home runs and steals. Andrew Cohen, second baseman of the Giants, was a close second in sending runners across the plate. His total was seven.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, starting his eighteenth national league campaign, took the play away from the rest of the field young and old. Alex pitched his nineteenth major league shut-out in his first effort and forced the Cubs to go ten innings to shade him, 3 to 2, in his second.

Larry Benton of the Giants, Red Lucas of the Reds and Dazzy Vance of the Robins tied for the lead in games won and lost with two victories each and no defeats.

In the matter of home runs, the National League showed the way, temporarily at least, to Babe Ruth. Frisch, Frank O'Doul of the Giants and Earl Webb of the Cubs tied for the lead with three circuit blows each.

Al Tyson and Max Carey of Brooklyn tied with Frisch in base thievery with two steals each.

Iowa Protests Mich.
Victory on Diamond

Chicago, April 21.—(AP)—Michigan was leading the Big Ten baseball championship race today but under a protest from Iowa.

Fighting an uphill battle at Ann Arbor yesterday, Michigan rallied to score five runs and tie the score in the ninth inning. In the tenth, Corriden, Michigan outfielder, who left the game in the eighth inning with a spiked leg, returned to the lineup and drove across the winning run, giving Michigan its third straight victory, 7 to 6.

Coach Otto Vogel of the Hawkeyes protested while hundreds of fans swarmed about him, jeering. His protest was not allowed and he announced he would file a formal protest with Big Ten officials.

Indiana won its second conference victory yesterday and took second place in the conference standings by collecting 15 hits and defeating Ohio State, 10 to 6. Chicago played a non-conference game, beating the Western State Teacher's College of Kalamazoo, Mich., 9 to 2.

Rookies Make Good
When Given Chance

Chicago, April 21.—(AP)—Injuries to regulars are giving the rookies their chances in the major leagues this season and most of them are making good.

When second baseman Lew Fonseca and centerfielder Eddie Morgan collided while chasing a ball, Manager Roger Peckinpaugh of Cleveland called two youngsters from the dugout.

Carl Lind replaced Fonseca and Elton "Sam" Langford took Morgan's position. So far both have exceeded expectations, Lind batting .333 and Langford .440.

Joe Kelly of the Cubs is another example. Kelly was called to take Grimm's place at first base. His hitting has been good and his hitting almost as consistent as Grimm's.

for the sixth annual Kansas relay today.

Half of the Big Ten teams were represented, along with Missouri Valley and Southwestern colleges. Of the Big Ten entries, Illinois and Iowa were favored to place highest.

In addition to those squads, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Notre Dame, Creighton and Marquette sent their stars south to aid in the seasoning process preparatory to the Penn Relays and Olympic tryout.
